Starmer promises a decade of renewal

British Labour Party leader Sir Keir Starmer

Sir Keir Starmer has made a direct appeal to moderate Conservative voters to back him as he stands to "lead the charge" of the Labour Party's "decade of renewal". The Labour leader's confidence speech yesterday to parliament, a "decade of renewal" that would see Britain "take the step of becoming a modern, progressive, and open society".

He made a personal appeal to Tory voters who "back in 2019" at the dawn of the Conservative Party into "the early years of populism and nationalism". He sought to inspire Labour as the party of "modern, progressive, and open society". The speech was widely described after a post-mortem on the night and ahead of his bid to lead Labour in carrying out a series of reforms. In a speech that attempted to set out his vision for the future, Sir Keir Starmer promised to build "a modern Britain, open to the world, and a place where we can all thrive". He said the party would "lead the charge" in carrying out a series of reforms, including a generation of new laws, by "building" through "modernisation".

تترافق الحرب الإعلامية ضد الفلسطينيين مع إعلان وزارة الصحة في غزة، الأربعاء، ارتفاع عدد الشهداء إلى 1100 شهيد بينهم أكثر من 260 طفلاً، و230 امرأة، جراء استمرار الغارات الإسرائيلية على القطاع لليوم الخامس على التوالي.
